

---

CONTENTS

RISS Reports

Eurasian Economic Union: Development Issues and the Central Asian Countries' Attitudes toward the EAEU.

The report observes the current state and prospects for developing cooperation ties between the Central Asian states and the Eurasian Economic Union. The focus is on several obstacles to the further EAEU advancement in the region and possible remedies for them. The authors also pay attention to the regional public perception of the Eurasian integration and possibilities for its deepening.

Keywords: the Eurasian Economic Union – Central Asia – Kazakhstan – Kyrgyzstan – Tajikistan – Uzbekistan – Turkmenistan – integration ..... 9

International Policy

Nemensky O. B. Poland's Foreign Policy Priorities under M. Morawiecki's Government.

The article analyzes the major articles and statements by Poland's prime minister M. Morawiecki and foreign minister J. Czaputowicz, concerning the national foreign policy. The author proposes a degree of ideological succession between the current and previous Polish governments (the latter finished its duty at the end of 2017). The current cabinet's new approach to Poland's international position and its foreign policy challenges are assessed in the article.

Keywords: the Republic of Poland – the Law and Justice party – M. Morawiecki – J. Czaputowicz – the Visegrad Group – the Three Seas Initiative ..... 58

Uzunova N. Y. France's Middle Eastern Policy: Searching for the Lost Grandeur.

The Middle East has traditionally served as one of the focal points for the French foreign policy. Despite losing all of its regional colonial possessions in the middle of the XXth century, Paris has since striven to preserve its regional influence, paying special attention to economic and cultural ties with the newly formed states. The "Arab Spring" events has shattered the France's regional position, and the Syrian war has altered the regional power balance. E. Macron desires to make a new start to relations with the Eastern Mediterranean countries, taking into account other actors' (including Russia) stances.

Keywords: France – the Middle East – Syria – Iraq – Saudi Arabia – Iran – Qatar – peaceful resolution – Russia – E. Macron ..... 78

Glazova A. V. The USA Role in the Qatar Diplomatic Crisis: Political Risks for the Region.

The author insists that Trump administration's inconsistent and contradictory policy towards the Qatar crisis has aggravated the rupture between the Gulf Cooperation countries, contributing to regional tensions and altering the regional power balance. Washington's fixation on the alliance with Saudi Arabia has become an obstacle to effective realization of the American political initiatives for the wider region.

Keywords: Qatar – The Cooperation Council for the Arab States of the Gulf – Saudi Arabia – the Middle East – the USA ..... 98

Andreeva E. S. Iran's Interests in the South Caucasus Region in the Light of Relations between Tehran and Armenia.

The article contains an analysis of the current Iran-Armenia relations in various spheres. The author demonstrates a deepening cooperation between Yerevan and Tehran after the implementation of the Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action dealing with the Iranian nuclear program. Future prospects for relationship between the IRI and the EAEU are also examined here.

Keywords: Iran – Armenia – Iran-Armenia relations – the JCPA – the South Caucasus region – the EAEU ..... 110

Zelenkova M. S. Current Myanmar-China Relations.

The article observes various aspects of Myanmar-China relations. The focus is on the bilateral cooperation for the Belt and Road project implementation. The author also denotes ambiguity and various issues of the Myanmar government's struggle against the internal separatism and extremism.

Keywords: China – Myanmar – the Rohingya – the US-China rivalry – the Belt and Road – separatism – extremism – international terrorism ..... 123

Komissina I. N. Current State and Future Prospects for Artificial Intelligence Technologies in China.

The artificial intelligence technologies have made a considerable progress in China recently. The country's target is to become the world leader in the sphere by 2030, utilizing both national and international "innovation recourses" for that purpose. The developing commercialization of the technology has resulted in its wider application in various spheres, including industrial production, medicine, and national defense. The Chinese authorities hope that artificial intelligence can become a new driver for the national economic progress.

Keywords: China – artificial intelligence – startups – commercialization – international cooperation ..... 137

Rumyantsev E. N. Beijing's New Approaches to Research and Analytical Work.

The article observes the CCP leadership's and expert's views on current tasks and objectives for the national analytics, noting also various sectoral issues and their possible remedies. The author evaluates both achievements and shortcomings of the PRC's research and information work. The article is based on authentic Chinese sources.

Keywords: China – think tanks – the CCP theory and politics – rating – research ..... 161

Defense and SecurityVilovatykh A. V.* Artificial Intelligence as a Factor in the Future Military Policy.

The article observes the accumulation of knowledge about artificial intelligence technology application. It presents some prospects for its military exploitation taking into account the current world developments. The author analyses the current U.S. approach to artificial intelligence engineering for the Pentagon needs. She also aspires to judge some ethical and legal aspects of artificial intelligence application for military purposes.

Keywords: technologies – artificial intelligence – military affairs – security – the USA – China – the world dominance ..... 177

ReviewsSosnov G. I.* Alevis of Turkey: Traditions and Modernity.

Book review: Zhigulskaya D.V. Alevis of Turkey / D.V. Zhigulskaya ; Institute of Oriental Studies of the Russian Academy of Sciences. Moscow : Probel-2000, 2016. 116 p.

Keywords: Alevis – Turkey – tariqa – politics – ritual – worship house – Hanafi – political islam ..... 193

Surguladze V. Sh. "The True Believer": the Logic of Mass Movements' Development According to Eric Hoffer.

Book Review: Hoffer E. The True Believer : Personality, Power, and Mass Movement Psychology / Eric Hoffer ; Transl. from English. Moscow : Alpina Publisher, 2017. 200 p.

Keywords: E. Hoffer – political psychology – mass movement – psychology of political leadership – ideology ..... 198

Article submission guidelines for publishing in the "Problems of national strategy" journal ..... 205